A BEAUTIFUL PICTURE.—MR. CLAY.

Mr. Sadd, of New York, has executed an engraving on steel, of Mr. Clay, from Mr. Dodge's painting, which is not only one of the best likenesses of the nation's favorite, but is one of the best pictures lately executed in this country. It presents Mr. Clay as sitting upon a bank, under the shade and at the foot of a large, umbrageous tree, with his hat and cane in his hand, and a favorite dog in a recumbent posture beside him. Near by is a Durham cow, and in the distance, embowered in trees and shrubbery, is his mansion house, between which and the point of view from whence it is observed, is seen a ploughman engaged in his occupation. A front view of Mr. Clay's features is given, and his countenance harmonizes admirably with the repose and serenity of the scenery around him. We confidently recommend it to all who desire a good likeness of him and an interesting picture.

It is for sale by Mr. James M. Dorsett, Pennsylvania avenue, No. 11, east of Gadsby's hotel; at Mr. Morrison's Book store, Pennsylvania avenue, and by the travelling agent, E. Curtis, at the Virginia hotel, C street.

PEACE MEETING.

The meeting at the Unitarian church on Monday evening, for the promotion of the cause of universal peace among nations, was thinly attended, in consequence of the weather, which was boisterous and disagreeable. It was expected that the Hon. John Quincy Adams would preside, and that the Hon. Mr. McDuffie would address the meeting, but both gentlemen failed to appear, which was attributed to their feeble health, and the bad weather. In the absence of Mr. Adams, the Rev. Mr. Gurley was appointed to the chair. The meeting was then opened by prayer by the Rev. Mr. Green, after which Mr. Gurley briefly explained the object for which the assembly had been convened, and apologized for the absence of Mr. McDuffie, and the other distinguished speakers who were expected. Mr. Green and Mr. Gurley spoke alternately, and interested the intelligent audience by their statements in reference to the Peace Societies; and the latter gentleman read from a volume the recorded testimonies of a number of distinguished statesmen in favor of the philanthropic cause. The meeting adjourned to meet on next Tuesday evening, at half past seven, in the same place, at which time a number of distinguished gentlemen will be present, and will deliver addresses. The association is founded in the broadest spirit of philanthropy, and must command the warm co-operation of every friend of humanity. We believe that much good may be effected by the discussion of this subject. The two greatest scourges of our race are war and intemperance, and of the two it would be difficult to say which is the greatest. But we believe that there would be less difficulty in extirpating war, which makes only an occasional appeal to the pride and vanity of our nature, than there has been in stifling the monster intemperance. Let there be as much discussion and "agitation," and united effort in exposing "the pomp and circumstance of glorious war" to the contempt and abhorrence of mankind, as has been exerted in the cause of temperance, and it will not take a prophet to foresee that the coming generation will turn the swords of their fathers into ploughshares, and their spears into pruning-hooks.

THE FAIR AT CONCERT HALL.

Mr. Editor: Last evening I attended the Fair now being held by the ladies of the Second Presbyterian Church, and I can honestly say I never was more pleased at any place of the kind in my life. They have a large collection of beautiful and useful articles mostly their own work, which they sell, I think, to use the common parlance, at prices to suit the times. They are exceedingly ladylike in their manners, (but of this more anon) and, indeed, it is a Fair in the true acceptance of the term. The church for which they have been induced to make this effort (for I am told they are very much opposed to fairs as usually conducted) has long had a dark cloud lowering over it; but now, owing to the prayers and strenuous efforts of a few devoted ones, who have remained by it through all its difficulties and trials, and the election of a truly pious and able divine, whose labors have always been greatly blessed wherever he has been called, and who is now permanently installed over them, they have the consolation of knowing that this cloud, with all its gloom, is being dispersed, and are encouraged with the hope that far brighter days will soon dawn upon them. They wish now to make some repairs on their house of worship, which are actually needed, and I would therefore cordially recommend that your readers may avail themselves of assisting in this praiseworthy effort.

A fine band of music is in attendance during the evening, which tends, in a great measure, to enliven the scene.

FAIR.—A sale of useful and ornamental articles will be commenced by the Ladies of the Second Presbyterian Church on Monday next, May 6, at Concert Hall, (Todd's Rooms,) four doors west of Brown's Hotel. They very respectfully invite the citizens of the District, and strangers visiting the city, to give them a call; everything will be sold at a moderate profit. It is the first time for ten years that they have appeared before the public in this capacity, and would not now, but for the purpose of liquidating a debt of the Church, and for making some repairs on their place of worship which are actually necessary. The room will be open on Monday from 12 M. to 10 P. M., and on every following day during the week from 9 A. M. to 10 P. M.

ARRIVAL OF STEAMSHIP HIBERNIA.

FIFTEEN DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

The New York Herald has received by express from Boston letters and despatches from the Steamship Hibernia, which arrived at Boston on Sunday, after a passage of sixteen days from Liverpool.

The intelligence is fifteen days later, and is highly interesting in a political, commercial, and financial point of view. The fall in cotton is from 1 to 1 1/2 per pound.

O'Connell has not been sentenced. The Texas question of annexation had reached England, and produced a very great sensation in political circles.

Ireland was in a very excited state, and our next accounts from Great Britain must be of the most interesting nature.

Mr. Carey's letter in relation to the State debt of Maryland, has been published in London, with some very sarcastic remarks.

MOST DREADFUL RIOT—LIVES LOST AND TREMENDOUS EXCITEMENT.

A meeting of the Native American Party was held yesterday afternoon at the corner of Master and Second streets. The meeting was organized, and addressed by S. R. Kramer, who concluded his speech, having commenced it on Friday afternoon at the same place. He was followed by Gen. Smith and Lewis C. Levin. While the latter was speaking the storm came on and the meeting adjourned to the market house in the immediate vicinity. The American flag was unfurled, which gave rise to cheering. Mr. L. again took the stand, and while going on with his discourse, a young man who stood outside of the market house, became excited and pulled out a pair of pistols.

A friend advised him angrily to put them up, but this incensed him still more, and he cried out, that if any one interfered with him he would shoot him down. A rush was then made from the western side of the market, and the next moment a gun was fired. It was now that the riot commenced in earnest.

Volley after volley was fired, and a rush was made over a lot in the direction of the Hibernia Hose house. From every street and house came rushing to the scene of action, armed men, some with muskets, others with bludgeons and sticks, many of these were accompanied by women, who urged them on and directed them where to fire. Those in possession of the market house maintained their ground and held aloft the flag—while the square between Cadwalader street and the Germantown road, in Master street, was filled with the combatants. Some of them here ran into houses, but they were watched, and the infuriated mass fell to work and partially destroyed the houses in which they had taken refuge.

In Cadwalader street a similar frightful scene was presented. The house of a widow woman, into which a man ran, was attacked; its doors were broken open and the rioters rushed in and broke the furniture into fragments.

The scene was one of so dreadful a description that it would be difficult to convey any correct idea of it. In fact, it was never before witnessed in this country. The riot lasted about an hour, during which time the report of fire arms numbered hundreds, and at least 50 persons fell, from being wounded. Several persons were reported to have been killed. A young man residing in St. John street near Beaver, named George Shiffley was killed on the spot, certainly. A young man named Leupner was shot in the hip, and was wounded in so shocking a manner that he cannot possibly survive.

Among the buildings attacked was the Hibernia Hose House; the lights of this were all knocked out, and the premises otherwise damaged. We believe that the flag was protected by those who had undertaken the venturesome task of protecting it, but what became of it we know not. The Native American party gradually dispersed, and up to a late hour in the evening comparative order prevailed.

In reference to the manner in which the above affair commenced, there are many contradictory statements among those who were on the ground; many assert that the first shot was fired from the Hibernia Hose House, but be that as it may, the rush was first made from the west side of the Market.

ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS.

After dark, last evening, a large body of Native Americans collected in 2d street, above Franklin; they numbered several thousands. On the west side of 2d street a considerable number of the Irish had taken possession of several houses and other places where they could operate with advantage upon their antagonists. Attempts were repeatedly made to drive them from their strong holds, but without success—each time they received a sharp fire. Efforts were also made to set fire to the Catholic School House which stands on a lot on the opposite side of the way, but were prevented by the firing from the houses. A large bon fire had been made in order to enable the belligerents to know each other, and for a time the most frightful state of things prevailed; but finally the crowd partially dispersed in consequence, as we believe, of those in the street not being able to contend, the most of them having no arms, with those belonging to the party within doors.

The Sheriff, with considerable force, was on the ground, and did all that he could to quell the riot. He displayed much bravery and determination. There must have been at least twelve persons seriously wounded. We learn that three of them have died from their injuries. We have obtained only the names of two of them—J. W. Wright, and — Ramsey. A man named Patrick Fisher was shot in the afternoon; his life is despaired of. Up to the hour of going to press, comparative quietness prevails, but there is still much excitement.—Forum of Tuesday.

SANDS'S SARSAPARILLA.

NORWICH, Conn., May 27, 1843.
Messrs. Sands—Gentlemen—The present will inform you of the good effect of your Sarsaparilla in the case of a little girl in my family, about 11 years old, and who has, for the last six years, been troubled with a scrofulous disease, and what some called a scald head or salt rheum, which extended over the whole surface of her head, attended with a continual discharge of a thick matter from the whole surface, rendering it necessary to keep her hair continually shaved for the whole time.

About six months since she commenced using your Sarsaparilla, soon after which her head began to get better, and has continued healing until nearly the whole surface is cured. Her general health continues good, and no unpleasant symptoms have resulted.
